REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Adopted by the State Convention, September 18, 1906.

The Republicans of New Hampshire, among the first to endorse the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt for president, register today their unqualified approval of his administration. With the co-operation of the Republican majority in congress he has been able to keep faith with the people, and under his leadership the Republican party has made a new record of achievements.

We commend the industry and work of the fifty-ninth congress. So much has been accomplished at its first session that we may reasonably expect every promise made by the Republican national convention of 1904 to be fulfilled at its final adjournment.

We congratulate the country that Republican financial and industrial policies have brought unprecedented prosperity to the country since 1897; and we are opposed to any change which would undermine that cardinal principle of the Republican party—protection to American manufactures and labor.

We endorse the action of the United States Senate in passing the Gallinger shipping bill, a measure of transcendent importance to our industrial, agricultural, and commercial interests; and we request our representatives in the house to make all honorable efforts to secure its consideration and passage by that body.

The patriotic services of the fading army of Civil War veterans are no less appreciated by a grateful country now that their number is rapidly diminishing, and we rejoice with them that the government's recognition of their valor and suffering is today the willing tribute of all the people.

In protecting American labor from foreign competition, the Republican party has not been unmindful of the requests of the wage earners for shorter hours and improved conditions of employment, as is shown by both national and state legislation enacted for their welfare. We pledge ourselves to a continuance of this policy, that the wage earners may receive their full share of the benefit of our prosperity.

The Republican party of New Hampshire has held the confidence of the people because it has ever been ready to deal with all public questions as they arise, and to correct abuses as they are pointed out. This spirit of progress is no less the inspiration of the party today. The earnest of its sincerity is the history of its fulfilled pledges.

We welcome the fullest discussion of our management of state affairs. The record made by the Republican party in its half century of control in this state requires neither apology nor explanation. Its bare recital is its justification. Every dollar of revenue has been scrupulously accounted for, and has been expended in accordance with the votes of the people's representatives in the legislature.

During this period of control we have paid ten million dollars of Civil War debts, debts for which the Republican party was not responsible. In addition, we have built and maintained an industrial school, a state normal school, an agricultural college, a new state prison, a soldiers' home, a state library, a school for the feeble minded, and enlarged the state hospital to more than quadruple its original size.

The state has assumed the care of its insane and other unfortunates, provided for the reform of its wayward youth, given generously in aid of education, erected monuments in memory of its sons distinguished in war and peace, looked after the public health, fostered manufactures and agriculture, dealt liberally by its Civil War veterans, and appropriated freely for the development of its natural resources, including its highways of travel.

For these educational, industrial, philanthropic, reformatory and patriotic undertakings has the revenue of the state been applied. We congratulate the people that nowhere is there a demand that appropriations for any of these worthy objects be discontinued or curtailed.

If there is opportunity for retrenchment, it must come through a reduction of the cost of administration. We, therefore, call upon the next legislature for such inquiry and action as shall satisfy the people that the best business methods prevail in all departments of the state government, and that there is neither waste nor extravagance in the expense of administering state affairs.

The real question before the public, therefore, is not one of reduced appropriations, but one of inquiry to ascertain if the present assessment of all classes of property is equitable and yielding proper returns, and to learn what new sources of revenue are available.

The last legislature, recognizing this situation and seeking new sources of revenue, enacted a law taxing collateral inheritances. If the constitutionality of this law is upheld by the supreme court, it will yield upwards of one hundred thousand dollars annually to the state treasury.

We, therefore, recommend that the next legislature direct thorough investigation of our system of taxation, and by tax commission inquire and report what new sources of revenue are available, and how the present assessment of property for taxation can be improved so that all classes of property, all interests and individuals may bear their just proportion of the public burdens.

We urge that the next legislature, as soon as organized, authorize the state treasurer to contract with the railroads for the transportation of its members from their homes to the capital and return each week on specified days, and that the cost be paid from the state treasury as mileage of members.

We further urge that the issuing of free passes by railroads and their acceptance by individuals be limited by penal statute to such classes as railroad officers and employees, persons in charge of mail and express, and persons in misfortune who are unable to pay their fares.

A free ballot and an honest count has been the slogan of the Republican party from the time of its birth. In reaffirming that principle today, we welcome any additional legislation that shall guard the purity of the ballot and protect it from the corruption of individuals and corporations.

Since the adoption of the Australian ballot for elections in this state, the present caucus system of selecting party candidates has become unsatisfactory to the people. A change in the manner of nominations for office is essential to preserve the integrity of party organizations. We, therefore, earnestly recommend that the next legislature ascertain whether this can be best accomplished by means of a direct primary, or by some effective method which confines party nominations to party adherents, provides for registration of voters and simultaneous primaries, and gives the fullest opportunity for a free, honest, and direct expression of the people in their selection of candidates for office.

All influences brought to bear upon the legislature should be open and above board. We, therefore, demand such legislation as will tend to eliminate a corrupt lobby from participation in the legislation of the state, and secure the registration of attorneys and others who may appear before legislative bodies with returns of their fees and expenses.

Although the constitutional conventions of 1889 and 1902 submitted no amendments to the constitution enlarging the number of elective offices, yet we recommend to the next legislature the inquiry whether the public interests will be better subserved by placing in the hands of the people the direct election of railroad commissioners and some other state officers created by statute and now appointed by the governor and council.

We commend the present state administration for its successful efforts in enforcing the laws against gambling at the Salem race track. If additional legislation is necessary to suppress the evil of gambling, the Republican party hereby pledges itself to its enactment.

When the present local option law was passed, it was with the express understanding that prohibition was to be made effective in no-license territory. That understanding the Republican party stands committed to fulfill. We, therefore, not only demand the rigid enforcement of all provisions of the local option law, but pledge ourselves to secure such new enactments as will make the prohibitory features of the law potential.

We recommend to the Republicans of the various senatorial districts, towns, and wards of the state, the selection of candidates for the legislature in thorough sympathy with the declarations of this platform, to the end that all its pledges may be fulfilled at the next session of the General Court.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Adopted by the State Convention, September 25, 1906.

We demand the strict and impartial enforcement of all laws as long as they remain upon the statute books.

We demand the abolition of the state license commission and the relegation of its authority and duties to the cities, towns, and courts where it belongs. We believe in license with local option, not license with commission option.

We demand the enactment of a statute to prevent the giving or issuing of railroad passes except to actual railroad officials or employees and poor persons in misfortune; and the enactment of a statute providing that no public official in any department of the state government, shall accept or receive free transportation from any corporation operating any railroad in this state, and that the acceptance or reception of the same shall operate to effect his resignation from office.

We demand the rigid enforcement of all laws against bribery or other corrupt practices in elections, legislation or public administration; the enactment of a direct primary law and of additional laws requiring the publication of sworn statements of all campaign expenses; and re-enactment of the law passed in 1887, regulating railroad lobbies.

We demand a revision of the laws on taxation, so that all persons, associations and corporations, foreign and domestic, may bear their fair share of the public expense.

We demand the extension of the fifty-eight-hour law so as to embrace every month of the year, and the passage of an employer's liability act; we record ourselves as heartily in favor of the labor laws introduced by Democrats at the last session of the legislature and killed by the Republican majority; we demand the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

We demand that all cities and towns be authorized by general laws to construct and operate waterworks, and electric and gas lighting plants, and to acquire by the right of eminent domain, plants of this nature now existing, or hereafter constructed by private capital.

We demand the municipal election of all police and other commissions having to do with city or town affairs; the abolition of other commissions that have not proven valuable to the people; the election by the people of United States senators, state treasurer and secretary of state, and that railroad, insurance and other commissioners be elected by the people and paid by the state.

We demand that state expenses be reduced to a reasonable and economical basis.

We pledge ourselves to promote in every legitimate way the advancement of the principles set forth in this platform, and to hold all persons elected upon the Democratic ticket responsible for their action in this respect.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM.

Adopted by the State Convention, March 21, 1906.

We, the representatives of the Prohibition party of the state of New Hampshire, in convention assembled in Concord on the twenty-first day of March, 1906, acknowledging Almighty God as the rightful ruler of nations, make the following declaration of political principles and purposes:

ARTICLE 1. We renew our allegiance to the National Prohibition party and platform.

ART. 2. Believing that the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation, and transportation of intoxicating liquors are the greatest menace to our civilization and that these can be suppressed by proper laws and their enforcement to this end, we demand the repeal of the present license and local option law, and the enactment and enforcement of Prohibition law.

ART. 3. As the Prohibition party stands for justice to all, we believe that the right of suffrage ought to be given without the distinction of sex.

ART. 4. We favor the government's ownership and control of public utilities.

ART. 5. As the Prohibition party is the only political party which is openly and uncompromisingly hostile to the legalized liquor traffic, we, therefore, invite all voters, who believe in its overthrow, to support the candidates nominated and platform principles this day adopted.

SOCIALIST STATE PLATFORM.

We, the members of the working class who are organized politically into the Socialist party of the state of New Hampshire, call upon every member of our class to join with us for the purpose of capturing the powers of government, that we may take possession of the tools of production, abolish the wage system and establish a system of production for the benefit of the workers.

Today the tools of production are owned by the capitalist class; they are operated by the working class, but only when operation will make profits for the owning class. Ownership of the machines, mines, factories and railroads gives to the capitalist class control over the lives of the members of the working class through the wage system.

The owning class can give or withhold employment at will. As a result of this absolute power the workers who perform all useful labor must humiliate themselves by begging for jobs of a class that performs no useful labor. If the permission to work is withheld, they and their families must starve.

The wage system is the cause of starvation, disease, crime, prostitution, child labor, stunted bodies, and warped minds for the workers, while it gives to the capitalists palaces for homes; the pick of the world's market for food; the finest raiment, culture, education, travel, and all that makes life worth living.

Society is thus divided into two hostile classes—capitalists and wage workers.

This condition has brought into birth the Socialist party, the political expression of the struggle of the working class for power. This party owes allegiance to and is a part of the international Socialist movement.

With a system of industry owned and operated by the workers the struggle for existence would be shifted from the individual to society as a whole.

The capitalist class owning the means of production and distribution, finance, the Republican, Democratic, and reform parties, making them faithful servants of capitalism, and thereby completely controlling the legislative, judicial and executive offices of the state and nation—in effect, making government the executive committee of the capitalist.

This fact demands as an inevitable conclusion, the organization of the working class into a political party that shall be everywhere and always distinct from and opposed to every political party not formed entirely upon the interest of the working class.

The Socialist party is organized to meet this demand and is therefore the party of the working class.

The Socialist party, when in office, shall always and everywhere, until the present system of wage slavery is utterly abolished, make the answer to this question its guiding rule of conduct: Will this legislation advance the interests of the working class and aid the workers in their class struggle against capitalism? If it does, the Socialist party is for it; if it does not, the Socialist party is absolutely opposed to it.

In accordance with this principle, the Socialist party pledges itself to conduct all the public affairs of this state in such a manner as to promote the interest of the working class.

Economic development under private ownership and competition subjects all middle class and small proprietors to a desperate and losing struggle. The ultimate of that struggle is the extinction of these two economic elements, forcing them down into the wage working class, with no certainty of employment, their wealth passing into the possession of a few great capitalists. Well authenticated statistics prove that this process of dispossession is going rapidly forward. That widely circulated journal, the Saturday Evening Post, has disclosed editorially that "if the census of 1910 repeats the story told by every census from 1850 down, in the year 1910 from 80 to 84 per cent of the families of the country will be living in tenant houses and from 10 to 20 per cent only in their own houses."

With this inevitable fate staring them in the face, the Socialist party invites the small proprietors and middle class of this state to unite with it to overthrow the capitalist system with its struggles and tragedies, and aid in bringing the just and rational system of the commonwealth.

In conclusion we appeal to all working men to study the principles of Socialism, to vote with their class at all elections until they overthrow the powers of capitalism, abolish industrial classes in society, and forever end the class struggle and inaugurate the co-operative commonwealth, based upon the fundamental principle of justice: to every worker the full product of his labor.

Workers of the world unite!

You have nothing to lose but your chains. You have a world to win.

3. Every member, rising to speak, shall address the president, and when he has finished shall sit down.

4. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, on the same day, without leave of the senate.

5. More than one member rising to speak at the same time, the president shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the senate, the president shall, or any member may, call him to order;—in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the president shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself without permission from the senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and if required by the president or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition until after an adjournment.

16. Any member, on giving notice of asking leave to bring in a bill, shall state the nature of the bill he proposes to introduce, and at least one day's notice shall be given before a motion for leave shall be in order.

17. Every bill shall be read three times before its passage, and the president shall give notice at each time whether it be the first, second or third reading; and no bill after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading before an adjournment.

The president may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond one legislative day.

22. The last question, upon the second reading of a bill or resolution, shall always be, Shall it be read a third time?—and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution unless by consent of sixteen members present, but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

28. Messages shall be sent to the house of representatives by the clerk of the senate.

30. All questions shall be put by the president, and each member of the senate shall signify his assent or dissent by answering yea or nay. If the president doubts, or a division is called for, the senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The president shall then rise and state the decision of the senate.

31. No person except the members of the executive, or members of the house of representatives and its officers, shall be admitted within the bar of the senate, except by invitation of the president, or some member with his consent.

32. The senate shall adjourn to meet at eleven o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon of each day unless the senate shall otherwise order.

33. Motions to adjourn shall be decided without debate.

34. No standing rule of the senate shall be suspended unless two thirds of the members present vote in favor thereof, and no rule shall be rescinded unless one day's notice of the motion has been given and two thirds of those present vote therefor.

35. Every bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the senate, which has been favorably reported upon by the committee having it in charge, shall be declared by the president laid upon the table, and the clerk directed to procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the senate; and that when said bills and joint resolutions are printed and distributed, the clerk shall cause a copy of the same to be laid on the president's table, and they shall be taken up in their order without motion, and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid on the table. And every bill or joint resolution so introduced shall be headed senate bill, or joint resolution, as the case may be.

Every bill and joint resolution appropriating money, which has been favorably reported upon by any other committee, shall be recommitted to the committee on finance for revision.

13. No bill, joint resolution, claim outstanding on the first day of the session, or petition relating to new business shall be received in either branch of the legislature after the third week of the session, unless reported from a committee; provided, that this rule may be suspended in either house whenever two thirds of the whole number of members shall, on division taken, vote in favor thereof, and not otherwise.

1. The speaker shall take the chair at precisely the hour to which the house shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order.

2. He shall preserve decorum and order, may speak on points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the house by any two members.

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the case may be) say Aye"; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion say No." If the speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The speaker shall then rise and state the decision of the house.

5. All committees shall be appointed by the speaker unless otherwise directed by the house.

6. The speaker shall designate to which of the standing committees all memorials, petitions, accounts or other matters shall be referred, unless otherwise ordered by the house.

8. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be assigned by the speaker; and all writs, warrants or subpœnas, issued by order of the house, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

11. The speaker shall have power to substitute any member to perform the duties of the chair, such substitution not to extend beyond one legislative day.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, make a motion or deliver any matter to the house, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the speaker.

13. If any member transgress the rules of the house, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to unless an appeal be made to the house, by a member, in which case the only question shall be, "Is the speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first. When two members rise at the same time, the speaker shall name the person to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house; nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

between him and the chair; nor shall any member leave his seat while the yeas and nays are calling.

17. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; nor in any case where he was not present when the question was put; nor sit upon any committee when he is directly interested in the question under consideration. In case of such interest of a member of a committee, the fact shall be reported to the house, and another person substituted on that question in his place.

18. Every member who shall be in the house when a question is put shall give his vote, unless the house, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the speaker or any member, and delivered at the table, and read by the speaker, before the same shall be debated.

20. No petition shall be received by the house unless it be presented by a member thereof, nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the speaker to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the speaker, it shall be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

22. When any question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but, first, to adjourn; second, to lay on the table; third, for the previous question; fourth, to postpone indefinitely; fifth, to postpone to a certain day; sixth, to commit; seventh, to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. Motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, and to take from the table, shall be decided without debate.

23. The speaker shall put the previous question in the following form: "Shall the main question now be put?" and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question has been decided. After the adoption of the previous question, the sense of the house shall forthwith be taken upon pending amendments, in their regular order, and then upon the main question. The previous question may also be ordered upon debatable motions and amendments, in which case the question shall be, "Shall the question on the amendment (or motion) now be put?"

24. The previous question shall not be debatable. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion for the previous question and related to the subjects affected by the order of the previous question shall be decided without debate.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order until after adjournment, but the main question, amendment or debatable motion shall be left before the house and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the house.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No vote shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless the notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the house shall be in session, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock.

31. When the reading of a paper is called for and objected to by any member it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

32. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees which have not reported.

33. Each member shall seasonably and punctually attend to his duty in the house, and no one shall absent himself from the service of the house unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

38. The first named member of any committee appointed by the speaker of the house shall be chairman; and in case of his absence, or being excused by the house, the next named member, and so on, as often as the case may happen, unless the committee, by a majority of the number, elect a chairman. And when any committee shall report otherwise than by bill, they shall, if the subject admit of it, subjoin to their report a resolution making such disposition of the matter committed to them as to the committee shall seem expedient.

39. Whenever it shall not be convenient for any standing committee to attend properly to all the business which may be properly referred to it, the speaker may, on a vote of the house to that effect, appoint an additional committee on the same subject, to consist of the same number of members as the original committee, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration all matters in relation to that subject which shall be referred to it by the house, and to report thereon.

OF BILLS.

40. All petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the house, and all bills and resolutions to be introduced in the house, shall be endorsed with the name of the person or committee presenting them, with the subject matter of the same, and shall be placed by the members presenting them in a box provided for the purpose by the clerk. The speaker shall take them up for introduction at the morning session.

41. Every bill and resolution originally introduced into the house shall be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof.

42. Every bill shall have three several readings in the house previous to its passage. The first reading shall be for information; and thereupon, if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the house, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be read a second time?" and if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, be laid upon the table to be printed under rule 46, and be by the speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the house. No bill after it has been read a second time shall have a third reading, until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the third reading of bills and resolutions shall be three o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the house.*

43. No amendment shall be made but upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution; and all bills and resolutions shall be in writing, with the name of the member and the town he represents on the back thereof. The orders of the day for the reading of bills and joint resolutions shall hold for every succeeding day until disposed of.

45. Every bill shall be marked on the first page "house bill," and every joint resolution shall be marked "house joint resolution," and each bill and resolution shall be regularly numbered, beginning with No. 1, and continuing consecutively, as each bill or joint resolution is introduced into the house.

46. Every bill and joint resolution introduced into the house, either by a member or by a committee, shall be declared by the speaker laid upon the table, after it has been read a second time, and the clerk shall procure a sufficient number of copies, printed on paper of uniform size, for the use of the house, and cause the same to be distributed to the members, and when printed the bill shall be immediately delivered to the committee to which it shall have been referred. Bills and joint resolutions received from the senate shall be printed at the same stage of their procedure unless they have been printed in the senate and copies distributed in the house.

47. All bills and joint resolutions appropriating money, reported from any committee, shall be referred to the committee on appropriations for revision.

48. No standing rule or order of the house shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present.

OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

49. The house may resolve itself into committee of the whole house at any time, on the motion of a member made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole house the speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the speaker.

* This paragraph shall not apply to bills and joint resolutions introduced at the session of 1907 under the old rules and not printed; but as to such unprinted bills and joint resolutions, the rules of the session of 1905 shall be in force.

50. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole house, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee and so reported to the house. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

51. The rules of proceeding in the house shall be observed in committee of the whole house, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

52. The speaker shall call for petitions from members of the house. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports, first from the standing and then from the select committees, shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the house.

53. The unfinished business in which the house was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received without special leave of the house, until the former is disposed of.

PART FIRST.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

ART. 2. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights, among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

ART. 3. When men enter into a state of society they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society in order to insure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

ART. 4. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the rights of conscience.

ART. 5. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested or restrained, in his person, liberty or estate, for worshiping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

ART. 6. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the DEITY and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore, to promote these important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality. Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate or religious societies shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect or denomination. And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law. And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

ART. 7. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

ART. 8. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

ART. 9. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

ART. 10. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men, therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to, reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

ART. 11. All elections ought to be free; and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office; but no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state, who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language, and to write, provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person who shall be sixty years of age or upwards on the first day of January, A. D. 1904.

ART. 12. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property. He is, therefore, bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

ART. 13. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

ART. 14. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

ART. 15. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offense until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

ART. 16. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense; nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

ART. 17. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and, upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

ART. 18. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason, a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

ART. 19. Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected places or arrest a person for examination or trial, in prosecutions for criminal matters, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order, in a warrant to a civil officer, to make search in suspected places or to arrest one or more suspected persons or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the person or object of search, arrest, or seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases and with the formalities prescribed by law.

ART. 20. In all controversies concerning property and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced, and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned, the parties have a right to trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

ART. 21. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to be fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

ART. 22. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

ART. 23. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offenses.

ART. 24. A well-regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defense of a state.

ART. 25. Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised or kept up without the consent of the legislature.

ART. 26. In all cases and at all times, the military ought to be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

ART. 27. No soldier, in time of peace, shall be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and, in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

ART. 28. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

ART. 29. The power of suspending the laws or the execution of them ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

ART. 30. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate in either house of the legislature is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution in any other court or place whatsoever.

ART. 31. The legislature shall assemble for the redress of public grievances and for making such laws as the public good may require.

ART. 32. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

ART. 33. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

ART. 34. No person can in any case be subjected to law martial or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

ART. 35. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well, subject, however, to such limitations on account of age as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.

ART. 36. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension should be granted but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

ART. 37. In the government of this state, the three essential powers thereof—to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial—ought to be kept as separate from, and independent of, each other as the nature of a free government will admit or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of union and amity.

ART. 38. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government. The people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives; and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of government.

PART SECOND.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

ARTICLE 1. The people inhabiting the territory formerly called The Province of New Hampshire do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

GENERAL COURT.

ART. 2. The supreme legislative power within this state shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other.

ART. 3. The senate and house shall assemble biennially, on the first Wednesday of January and at such other times as they may judge necessary, and shall dissolve and be dissolved seven days next preceding the said first Wednesday of January biennially, and shall be styled THE GENERAL COURT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

ART. 4. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record or other courts, to be holden in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining all manner of crimes, offenses, pleas, processes, plaints, actions, causes, matters, and things whatsoever, arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting, or residing, or brought within the same, or whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed, and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon; to which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy or depending before them.

ART. 5. And, further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time to make, ordain, and establish all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties or without, so as the same
